My personal experience with LBDI has been great! Love their communication and their willingness to help each other out with any problems.

- Alex S, Senior DSP

It's a learning and great experience working at LBDI. I enjoy working and helping others. LBDI shapes you to be successful in what you're doing by giving you effective training and always learning from co-workers. The company offers good, friendly supervisors and awesome team members. The DSP is a wonderful job and I have learned a lot including good communication skills. I like taking my individuals in to the community and teach them daily skills.
