Mathnasium Needs YOU!

Mathnasium is offering an opportunity for parents, with children ages 6 – 14 years of age, to drop off their children at our Mathnasium center so they have a safe environment to engage in their school distance learning.

Working parents need to know their children are partaking of the distance learning in their schools without distractions and are actually LEARNING. We will not be doing any Mathnasium curriculum. We are offering the space, supervision, and safety of each student.

Your role will be to help them with any technical issues in connecting to the school, redirecting them if distracted and making sure they are in an environment where they are safe and are engaged in the instruction offered.

We are HIRING NOW! Positions to be filled by August 31st, 2020

We are hiring individuals that enjoy being around students, will help them with connecting to the internet and set up for the day, redirect them when necessary, assure that we maintain COVID procedures for their safety and are available during the session time we offer these students.

What does this position require?

- Work includes some light lifting (in case we need to move tables & chairs) and an ability to clean throughout their time at the center.
- Keeping kids on task most of the time, yet identifying when a break for the student is appropriate.
- Light reporting so that we can keep parents informed. Transparent communications are key.
